

Programs in Williamson County for Older Adults with Dementia

Adult Day Health Centers are facilities licensed by the state of Texas offering care and support for older adults with physical needs and/or experiencing memory loss. These older adults might not be able to be left alone safely or might enjoy spending the day socializing and enjoying activities. Services include medication management and health monitoring from full-time nurses, meals and snacks, transportation, personal care, and activities organized by certified activity directors. The AGE Adult Day Health Centers accept Medicaid, Veteran's benefits, long-term care insurance, and private pay at a rate of $60 per day.

Respite Programs are community-based programs that serve both memory-impaired individuals and their caregivers. Respite participants enjoy socially-enriching and fun activities while their caregivers take a break from caregiving responsibilities. Program activities can include music, exercise, games, dancing, arts and crafts, and a meal. Some sites offer concurrent caregiver support groups. Respite programs are generally offered free of charge or for a nominal fee. Expenses are covered by in-kind and monetary donations from area businesses and individuals. Programs are staffed by volunteers. Admission to each respite program is at the discretion of its program director based upon the stage of dementia and the care needs of the participant.

Senior Centers provide fun, engaging activities for older adults living with early dementia. Activities and benefits include arts and crafts classes, education, fitness, games, music and dance, access to information about community resources, caregiver classes and support, and a free meal thanks to the Meals on Wheels Senior Lunch Program. Please contact each senior center to learn about what they offer. It is strongly recommended that someone accompany an older adult living with early dementia. He or she may need extra support during activities and as he or she becomes familiar with a new place.
